

King Viktor the 1st (aka: Hassan Amad)

My name is King Viktor the 1st, and I'm actively investigating Old Money Criminals that tortured me for 3 years over the internet using a general purpose artificially intelligent cluster of machines that are tied to markets, news, advertising, video game consoles, cellular towers, satellites, and whatever else. Mythos is a book on individuality, faith, my past, the present, and a science fiction future. These are mere notes, that i need to further the investigation and analysis. They are being uploaded to the blockchain to keep a firm record overtime of how the criminals are attacking me, and how they are using man in the middle attacks to thwart the investigation.

Crime Scene 1:

(ages 19-25: Shit List Principle)

- The shit list principle is when your a truth seeker and people put you on their shit list
- Talk about the creator of The Arrivals Series being taken off on some "eschatological mission" after he was basically interested early on in taking "false religiosity and false prophets" (this was a crime to take out and discredit a big group truth seekers)
- I ended up not agreeing with where it ended up. Began studying philosophy at University of Michigan Dearborn. Developed OCD near the tail end of it. Then over the next 5 years had battled very severe OCD.
- Created a presentation for a philosophy of conspiracy class at U of M where the group and I presented a conspiracy theory where Nazis and Zionists conspired to start the holocaust, and where we presented some material that Henry Ford wrote in The International Jew.
- I had also become religious, and wanted to study in a 12'r Shiite Seminary, but decided instead to go to Law School. By the time I was ready to go to law school I had removed a lot of superstition from my mental diet by using and developing my own philosophical skills and principles (with the help of friends) that i had developed for life
- Not once did I return to the conspiracy theory culture on the internet. I decided instead to really focus on my education in various directions.

Crime Scene 2:

(ages 25-30 Nazi Racism)

- While in law school, i met my ex-wife and got married (who was African American)
- I began experiencing physical health problems shortly thereafter, in particular a skin condition (which looks like a racist thing that nazis like to joke about because they like racist poetry)
- Over the next 5 years, I learned to "manage" this condition by avoiding certain inflammatory foods
- While in law school i decided to drop out (for personal reasons) and really needed a new direction, (but i couldnt for funding reasons) so I applied to OSU Computer Science Program while using the funding from law school to pay for both. Eventually finished the Computer Science program and dropped out of Wayne Law
- Over the course of these 5 years I also took heavy interest in studying the crypto markets, in particular EOS, and BSV
- I began developing other types of health problems (weird kidney pains), including weight gain, and a worsening skin condition

- These eventually all substantially went away after my divorce. Kidney pain totally went away as the stress went away, as well as the weight gain. (Lost 75 pounds) My energy came back and began working out again.
- Also suffered severe energy issues, and a weird pain in my brain every time i talked (i totally understand why this was happening, its because of what i was talking about to my ex-wife and others). This pain in my brain totally went away after my divorce and after a few years it came back as i really began figuring things out about the criminals while "speaking on the internet".

Crime Scene 3:

(ages 30-33 Evil Old Money)

Over the last 3 years from the time of writing (Friday March 3rd 2023), I was the victim in a statistical crime that is connected and related to two other time periods in life where I was also victim to statistical crimes (without knowing it), and I still am till this day plagued by these Old Money Devils. This crime scene is the latest one and all began right after leaving Ford Motor Company (FMC) and began working on a company in the crypto space on top of a blockchain called Bitcoin Satoshi Vision (BSV). In my opinion this was the "perfect place" to start the crime that the criminals believed would kill me off.

Over those 3 years all of the following happened to me:

- As I began my company in securing Big Data through Oracle Games for the company called Data Satoshi Vision (or Data SV), I began feeling a whirling sensation in my head. I told my ex-wife about it, and she actually told me she felt the same thing to some degree. I had no idea what to think, I was actually extremely positive at the time,
- Meanwhile while working for my company, my cousin on two separate occasions told me he felt as though he were in a movie. In other words he felt like it was all simulated behavior when he was around me.
- Long story short, i was in the process of being offered to sell my company to Unbounded Capitol. Where "offer" meant that Mr Laskey put together a presentation showing me what the offer might look like. I dont see the difference between an "offer" in the legal sense and an offer in the presentation sense. In essence it was the same to me.
- Either way I ditched the company because of the cap table issues, and I didnt want to work for anyone without it being my company after having left FMC. I wanted to be a founder, its that simple. "People" didnt want this for various reasons.
- This is a "normal situation" where a startup doesn't get off the ground for cap table reasons and the founder not being satisfied with the ideas of acquisition. Normal "toxic equity" issues. I actually believe however, that the way i left FMC had "everything" to do with it. And what I mean by "everything" will become clear overtime
